

COACHES

GABRIEL BOLTON
Head Coach

Gabriel Bolton returned to Cal State Stanislaus as the women's soccer head coach in 2006 after first serving as the head coach in 2001. He is now in his fifth season overall with the program and in 2008 became CSUS's winningest coach with his 36th win.

Bolton helped direct the Warriors to an 11-8-1 overall finish in 2001. In the three years before his arrival, the program tallied just a 7-48-1 record. The Warriors were ranked the fourth-most improved women's soccer program in the nation by the NCAA at the conclusion of the year. In 2007, the Warriors finished second in the CCAA North after posting a 10-8-2 overall and 7-5-2 conference records. In 2008, CSUS went 8-7-4 overall, giving the program seven winning seasons in the last eight years.

After the 2001 season, Bolton left to become the top assistant and recruiting coordinator at the University of Utah in Salt Lake City. During his three seasons at Utah, the Utes made three NCAA Division I tournament appearances, won the Mountain West Conference Championship tournament in 2003 and 2004 and posted an overall record of 42-12-8. The program was also ranked in the top 25 nationally all three seasons and in both 2003 and 2004, cracked the nation's top 15 rankings.

As recruiting coordinator with the Utes, Bolton recruited three nationally-ranked recruiting classes. In 2002 and 2004, his classes were ranked No. 37 in the country and in 2003 his class was ranked No. 17—the highest-ranked recruiting class in Utah and MWC history. During his three years at Utah, Bolton coached 14 all-conference players, 38 academic all-conference players, six NSCAA All-West Region players, five freshmen All-Americans, and two Verizon Academic All-Americans. Utah also received the National Soccer Coaches Association of America Team Academic Award all three years.

From 2005 to 2006, Bolton took over as the Girl's Director of Coaching for the River City United soccer club in Sacramento. He was also the head coach for the RCU Boca Jrs. '91 (U14 girls) and RCU Boca Jrs. '90 (U15 girls). In 2006, Bolton led the Boca Jrs. '91 team to the Cal North State Cup Championship—the first State Cup Championship by an RCU girl's team in the 38-year history of RCU. He also led the team to a Super Y League Pacific Division Championship and the Super Y League North American Finals, where the team finished second. His Boca Jrs. '90 team was two-time United States Club Region G Champions, advanced to U.S. Club Nationals in 2005, and won the 2006 U.S. Club National Championship in Bolton's last game as coach of the team.

In addition to coaching at the collegiate and club levels, Bolton has been heavily involved in soccer with the Olympic Development Program (ODP). He has served as assistant coach and head coach for the Cal North State Team. Bolton also spent two years as a head coach in Utah with the ODP. Bolton has coached numerous players that have gone on to play at the U.S. Youth National Team levels. He is also on the national staff for Super Y League ODP.

Bolton has also coached at the Community College and High School levels. In 1998, he started the women's soccer program at Sierra College and made it an instant success. His overall three-year record was 41-16-11 and he led the team to the California Community College playoffs in two of the three seasons, including the NorCal Regional Final Four in the second year of the program. In 1996, he turned around Bella Vista High School in Fair Oaks, leading them to the Capital Athletic League Championship his first season and the Division I Section Semi-Finals in 1998.

While Bolton mostly coaches players, he is also extremely involved in developing coaches. In 2005, he became a certified trainer for the Positive Coaching Alliance. The PCA is a non-profit organization started in 1998 at Stanford University that trains coaches to coach using positive motivational techniques. As a trainer, Bolton puts on workshops throughout Northern California that gives youth coaches tools to positively motivate their players.

Bolton Graduated from UC Davis in 1994 with his degree in political science and sociology. He earned his law degree in 1997 from the University of the Pacific, McGeorge School of Law.

SALLY DOMITROVICH
Student Assistant Coach

Sally Domitrovich will serve as a student assistant in the program for a second season in 2009. Domitrovich spent two seasons at UC Santa Barbara before transferring to Cal State Stanislaus in the fall of 2006.

She was a four-year standout at Beyer High School in Modesto and earned all-district and all-conference honors during her junior and senior years. Domitrovich was also an all-academic award recipient four times in high school.

JENNI ROSENBERG
Volunteer Assistant

Jenni Rosenberg played for two seasons here at Cal State Stanislaus.

She scored a goal during the 2003 season when the Warriors went 10-8-3 under coach Nicole Van Dyke's first season. In 2004, Rosenberg scored a goal for the 10-7-3 Stanislaus team.

Prior to wearing the Red and Gold, Rosenberg spent two seasons at Merced College and also attended Southern Oregon University.

ADRIENNE SORENSON
Assistant Coach

After two stellar seasons as speedy offensive threat, Adrienne Sorenson joins the coaching staff as the first assistant to head coach Gabriel Bolton in 2009. She also serves as the assistant strength & conditioning coach for Warrior Athletics.

Sorenson played two seasons, 2007-08, at Cal State Stanislaus and scored 11 goals with eight assists, tallying 31 points (seventh on the all-time top 10 list). In 2008, Sorenson had five goals and three assists with two game-winners placing her in the single-season top 10 list in all three categories.

Prior to transferring to CSUS in 2007, Sorenson attended Sierra College in Rocklin and was the leading scorer in 2005 and earned first-team All-Conference honors in 2006.

CHRISTOPHER MALENAB
Goalkeeper Coach

Goalkeeper assistant Christopher Malenab brings coaching experience at the high school and club soccer levels to the Warriors this Fall.

Malenab has been coaching at the club level, either as an assistant, head coach or program director at various club teams in the Sacramento metro area since 1996. Currently, he is the head coach of El Dorado United Crew 97 boys team and the director of goalkeeper development at the El Dorado United Soccer Academy.

At the high school level, Malenab has been a head coach of a JV club since 2001 and became the El Camino High School girls varsity head coach in 2002. Currently, he is entering his fourth season as head coach of the Rosemont High School girls varsity team in Sacramento. Rosemont is coming off its third consecutive co-conference championship season this past spring.

Malenab returns to collegiate coaching for the first time since 2004, when he served as the goalkeeper and strength coach for the men's team at Cosumnes River College. That year, he also served in the same capacity for the Sacramento Knights of the Premier Soccer League.
